Dear Pamela and Peter,
FAO: Members of Neath and Port Talbot Cancer Challenge

It gives me great pleasure to welcome the Neath and Port Talbot Cancer Challenge to Parliament on Monday 29 October to celebrate your longstanding dedication and compassion for members of our community who have suffered, or are currently suffering from, cancer.

The tremendous work you do has helped save countless lives and improved the lives of many more, for which everyone in our community is extremely grateful.

I have invited along neighbouring Welsh MPs and have had positive RSVPs from Christina Rees, Geraint Davies, Tonia Antoniazzi, and Carolyn Harris. Lord Hain also expects to attend.

They all look forward – as do I – to hearing more about the important work that you do and sharing a wonderful afternoon with you in Westminster Palace's Jubilee Room. We are also putting on some drinks and snacks that we hope you enjoy.

As you may know, Monday is also now Budget Day, following the Chancellor's recent decision to bring the budget forward from its expected late autumn slot. This means that there should be an extra level of activity and energy around Parliament which might make everything that little bit more exciting. It also means that MP's diaries will be a little more strained than usual, but I am still very hopeful that my fellow MPs will be able to join us to say hello.

I very much look forward to seeing you all there.

Very best wishes,
Stephen
